

SPRING SEASON

Now that Spring is finally here, we continue to serve a population in need in ways that only we can do so. For example, on top of providing nights of lodging to the men, women, and families that reside at City Mission, we also recently opened our doors to accommodate a small group of community guests needing a warm place to sleep through the cold, harsh winter. We served an average of twelve people every night in the month of January in this capacity. These individuals are also welcome to utilize our dining services when needed. Going forward, our plan is to continue to serve as an emergency shelter to these individuals through the Springtime, as well as the rest of the year.

With the housing expansion and the job growth of the city of Findlay, the basic needs of the homeless population of Hancock County still remain. We are continuously looking for ways to better administer services to our residents and community guests. Thank you so much for being a City Mission partner. Your continued support and prayers allow us to reach those that are in tragic life situations and connect them to the necessary local professional services, such as Century Health, Caughman Health Center, and Hope House, that are so vital to our clients' overall health and wellbeing.

NEW BEGINNINGS

James recently came to the City Mission with a number of medical issues. His assigned program manager was able to help him get his medical card and the medical supplies he needed. The resident regularly attends RU, a Christ-centered recovery program, and is working with our chaplain to increase his faith in the Lord. James also actively attends a local church to have fellowship with other Christ-followers and to continue in his spiritual growth. At the Mission, we are forever thankful for the new beginnings that come from God!
